

Suggested Introduction for John Reddish

John Reddish is a nationally renowned speaker, consultant, author and trainer who has informed and inspired audiences for more than 20 years.

He holds a Masters degree in Administration with a concentration in Psychology and a Bachelors degree in Communications. He is a member of the National Speakers Association, and is one of only a select few worldwide to have earned the Certified Management Consultant designation.

In (today's, tonight's) presentation, he will challenge you to join him in a journey of exploration and discovery – to stretch your thinking, to boost your potential and to prepare yourself to get results you never believed possible.

John began his career in public relations and advertising, moved on to management development and then into consulting and speaking.

Please join me in welcoming John Reddish...